Inimitable, Ives Delights His Audience

By Claude Grelling

Jocular, convivial and, above all, inimitable, Burl Ives last Monday gamboled his way through a colorful program of songs and ballads, to the delight of a receptive audience.

Hardly a minute passed that the Knights gymnasium was not rocking with the laughter of some twenty-five hundred people, assembled to applaud America's most popular balladier.

Jokes Keep Interest.

The Great Balladier's voice, reminding one somewhat of the distant sound of a lone cowboy's song, rose and fell, mellowed and hardened with the lyrics and entranced the listeners. Between numbers, his spontaneous jokes and easy smile held the interest of the audience and evidenced Ives' proverbial charm.

Especially outstanding among the selections were the well-known, hilarious "When I Was Single," the sentimental "Cowboy's Lament" and Ives' perennial "Blue Tail Fly," given as an encore. The program was varied and full of appeal, as evidenced by the fact that the singer was called back for all of four encores.

Mentions Origins.

Other particularly pleasing songs were the highly melodramatic "Golden Vanity," Scotland's famous epic "Brennan on the Moor" and the sweet-romantic "I Know Where I'm Going." Adding to the effect of the selections, he frequently mentioned their origins and succeeded in coupling some story or joke with almost every one of them.

Burl Ives established himself in the minds of his listeners as an artist with a contagious sense of humor as well as a solid feeling for the beauty of folklore and folksong. He possesses almost to perfection that rare gift which so many artists lack—the ability to make an audience feel at home. The concert accomplished a truly rare combination of entertainment and relaxation.

New Switchboard For Luther Hall To Operate Soon

Completely new telephone switchboard is being installed in Luther hall and will be in operation sometime next week, according to Clarence W. Pries, Wartburg college business manager.

System consists of a central switchboard, two trunk lines coming into Luther hall and 12 office extensions. New telephone number for any office in Luther hall will be 935 or 936 when the system goes into effect, and all offices in the administration building will be reached through the central exchange.

Switchboard will be situated in the business manager's office and will be operated by his secretary, Miss Donna Bade. She will handle all calls going in and out of Luther hall.

All other buildings on campus are not affected by the new switchboard and may be reached with the same number as before, according to Mr. Pries. Provisions are being made at this time, however, to include other campus buildings on the system as soon as the telephone company is equipped to make this change.

"I feel that the new exchange system will give us a more efficient service and will aid the heavy telephone traffic in Luther hall," stated Mr. Pries.

Dorm Plans Party

Grossmann Knights will have a Christmas party Monday evening at 9 p.m. in the newly furnished men's lounge. Mrs. Maude Schell and the Rev. Dean Kilgust, house directors, are in charge of the party.

Program for the evening will include choral singing, with a special musical selection by one of the Grossmannites and refreshments in the cafeteria.

President and Mrs. C. H. Becker and Dean and Mrs. Earnest Oppermann will be special guests at the party.

First Band Concert Next Thursday

The 1949-50 Wartburg College Concert Band

First formal performance of the Wartburg college concert band will be presented next Thursday evening, Dec. 8, at 8 p.m. in the Knights gymnasium. Edfield A. Odegard, instrumental music instructor, will direct the band in its presentation of a varied program.

To open the program there will be Wagner's "Prelude to Die Meistersinger." It contains an expressive theme of the wooing of Walther as well as the various aspects of his love. In the final section the music gathers up its whole strength in a combination of the themes already mentioned.

Religious Theme Next.

Lending a religious atmosphere to Part I of the program will be Bach - Malin's "From Heaven Above." Malin's band transcription is from the organ score and is a worthy addition to the band literature in this field.

"Water Music" by Handel-Malin and "La Boutique Fantasque" by Rossini-Respighi are listed as the final numbers before the intermission.

Modern overture will be represented in the second half of the program by Andrea Rolland's "Overture for Band." Unusual harmonic effects are presented by this contemporary American composer.

Latin Rhythm Added.

"Rumbolero" by Camarata-Lang, "Mexican Hat Dance" by Bennett and "Caribbean Fantasy" by John J. Morrissey will be offered to please the lovers of Latin American rhythm.

Novelty will be added by Lang's "Do-Si-Do," while "Procession of Nobles" by Rimsky-Korsakov will conclude the program.

No admission will be charged for the concert, but a free-will offering will be taken.

Xmas Fun-Fest Set

Annual Christmas family party of the Wartburg Women's club will be held next Wednesday evening, Dec. 7, at 7:45 p.m. in the dining hall, according to Miss Hazel May Snyder, head of the home economics department and president of the group.

Each person attending is requested to bring a 25-cent item for the gift exchange.

'950 For '50' Starts Project

With the slogan "950 for '50," the campaign was launched this week for the collection of $950 for the new Wartburg radio station, this semester's student body project.

An entirely new system of collecting funds is being introduced by the student body project committee under the chairmanship of Walter Rath, senior. The drive will be carried on by the individual classes, and a goal is set for each as well as for the entire student body. The campaign will last until Christmas vacation, a period of less than three weeks.

Prexies Assist.

Assisting Rath on the committee are four class presidents, John Walker, senior; Judy Vogel, junior; Howard Rand, sophomore, and George Utech, freshman. Each one is responsible for collections in his class. Also on the committee is Katherine Mueller, freshman, who is making posters.

This committee is emphasizing the point that students are not giving their money to the radio station, but investing in it.

"Countless hours of listening enjoyment will constitute the dividend," stated Rath. "The students own the station."

Some of the items which student investments will make possible are microphones, microgroove turntables, a tape amplifier and rental of a transcription library.

Solicitors Named.

Solicitors for the campaign were appointed at the class meetings Wednesday night. During the next two weeks, every student will be contacted by one of these solicitors and may make any contribution he wishes.

Seniors appointed were Marvin Goetz, Marianne Schmidt, Elwyn Hilmer, Ray Meier, Bill Biedermann, Ken Krueger, David Heidtke, Ivan Kressin and Bill Steinert.

Sophs Appoint.

Sophomores appointed were Ray DeWeerth, Elroy Dietrich, Evelyn Mensing, Ruth Meyer, Marilyn Moeller, Kenneth Pohlmann, Ruth Rose, Glenn Schultz, Dick Swensen and Harold Wienke.

Trumpet Begins Safety Appeal

Campaign for safe driving is being launched in the TRUMPET columns of this week's paper and the issue of next week, Dec. 10.

This campaign is especially encouraged by the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty of Illinois, which is offering prizes for both individual articles and for entire campaigns in college publications.

TRUMPET editors, feeling that there is a need for safe driving consciousness among the younger drivers of the country, have entered the contest in hopes of being of some influence for safety among Wartburg student drivers.

Begun by this week's editorial, the campaign will be climaxed by special articles to appear in next week's edition.

Informality Presides At All-School Party

"Strictly informal" is the slogan for tonight's Christmas program being sponsored by Kappa Delta Kappa and Phebes, according to officers of the two organizations. The party is scheduled to begin promptly at 7:30 in the Little Theater.

Among the forms of entertainment on the agenda are selections by the Pep band, readings of Christmas poetry, group singing and humorous readings. Numbers by the college quartet and sextet, as well as singing of carols and popular songs, are scheduled. Refreshments will be served at the close.

Board Recommends

Recommendation that campus organizations begin their meetings at 7:15 p.m. instead of at 7:30 p.m. was made this week by the student activities committee through its chairman, Norman Fintel, junior.

This change was asked in order to coincide with the earlier chapel, 6:45 p.m., which was adopted recently.

Ambassadors, Dates To Hear 'Messiah'

North hall Ambassadors and their dates will travel en masse to Waterloo tomorrow to hear the "Messiah" being presented at the Waterloo Municipal auditorium. Occasion is the North hall Christmas party.

After the "Messiah" they will stop at "The Cedars" near Cedar Falls for dinner and evening entertainment.

Last Wednesday evening the North hallers enjoyed a venison feed in the dining hall. The venison had been brought back from a hunting trip in Wisconsin by Mel Gleiter, junior.

Castle Tales To Appear Dec. 7 --- 'Better Than Ever,' Says Editor

Castle Tales, Wartburg's literary magazine, is expected to go on sale next Wednesday, Dec. 7, in Luther hall, according to an announcement made by Claude Grelling, junior and editor of the publication.

Now in its second year, Castle Tales is the youngest among Wartburg student publications. It was started last year by the creative writing classes and established itself firmly by the end of the year.

'Last Two Good.'

"The last two issues were good," added Grelling. "We hope that the students will find this one to be even better. The material is varied, colorful and well-written, and every student should find something to his liking among the 26 selections included in the magazine."

Most valuable part of this issue should be a printed, sheet music size version of Wartburg's new field song, "Fight On Knights," which will be inserted in every copy. Other outstanding features include short stories by Richard Rowray, freshman, Omar Bonderud and Elwin Bergstraesser, seniors, and original essays, short stories, poetry, art work and photography by students from all four classes.

Attraction Added.

New attraction, included for the first time in the forthcoming issue, is a special alumni section. Contributions by graduates and former students of Wartburg will also be considered for this feature in all future editions of Castle Tales.

"Since only 500 were printed this year," concluded Grelling, "we urge students to buy their copies as soon as possible. Castle Tales will be sold every morning and afternoon, beginning Wednesday, until the supply runs out. The price is 50 cents per copy."

Xmas Tea Planned

Christmas tea and open house for all students will be held in the home economics department Monday, Dec. 5, from 3 to 5 p.m., according to Miss Hazel May Snyder, head of the department.

Miller Tenor Soloist At Waterloo Sunday

Donald Miller, instructor in voice at Wartburg, will be tenor soloist at the Organists Guild presentation of Handel's "Messiah" tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. in the Waterloo Municipal auditorium.

Many Wartburg students plan to attend the sacred presentation, which will feature several other soloists secured from distant cities.

Let's Settle The Score

We young people have a score to settle with the large group of older people whom we like to call "old fogies." The score to settle is one of human lives that have been lost on the highways because of carelessness and bad driving habits.

The scoreboard isn't a pleasant one to read—on it are recorded the mangled bodies and twisted wrecks which result from accidents on the highways of the nation. Every 24 hours, on the average, 89 lives are lost in highway accidents. And 23 per cent of those fatal accidents involve drivers of school age. If the scoreboard were arranged in age brackets, we of the 18-25 group would have scored twice as many deaths as any other seven-year age bracket.

Certainly we are better drivers than those older than we. We are in the prime of life. We have better eyesight, better motor reactions, better stamina, better resistance to fatigue. But we don't have better experience or better judgment many times. We try to make up for these qualities in complete unconcern and utter daredeviltry.

Why? Because it's fun to take a few chances, fun to see some other driver or pedestrian shake in his boots when he sees us coming, fun to be able to do something daring and then come back and tell the gang about it. The trouble is that too many persons DON'T come back to tell about it—they lie, instead, either on the hospital bed or beneath the freshly turned earth of a quiet cemetery.

These statistics are not just the figments of someone's imagination nor are they casual observations. They are the results of a cold, severe, calculating science—the insurance business. Insurance company actuaries scanning and calculating this phenomenon of youthful driving, have had to increase rates substantially for any car, including the family sedan, being driven at any time by anyone in this 18-25 age group.

Now maybe we at Wartburg are the exception to the rule. Perhaps we've never been involved in a serious accident. Perhaps we don't play the more spectacular motor games like "chicken," "drag race," "rotation" or "pedestrian polo" that so many "hot-rod" clubs do.

But yet, we must admit that at times we could be more careful. We like to speed and get places in a hurry—those that drive a mere 40 are stick-in-the-muds. And we like to show off, take the corners a little too fast, not pay too much attention to the other fellow—those that are too considerate don't have any moral backbone. And we like to get wrapped up in one-armed driving and some of us even like to mix drinking with driving.

In a short time many of us will be driving home for the Christmas vacation. Let's work then to settle our score on the highway. Let's drive to have the lowest highway fatality rate of any age bracket, not the highest.

Political Pageant

By Claude Grelling

We Must Be Dynamic

I hope that my readers will permit me just this once to depart from the usual subjects of this column in order to give my attention to a problem which is presenting itself on campus. The question was suggested to me by last Thursday's panel discussion on "Religious Life on the Christian Campus," and I believe that the issues raised are important enough to be of concern to every Wartburg student.

During the course of that panel discussion, the question was raised as to how Wartburg might best achieve its purposes. These specific aims of the college cannot be stated here due to lack of space, but the interested reader can find them on pages 21 and 22 of the 1948-49 catalogue.

It seems to me that the most fundamental requirement for the accomplishment of these goals is a dynamic desire, or a sense of urgency, for knowledge, education and Truth. One of the reasons why religious activities on the campus are not so effective as they might be is that too many of us have not yet come to the realization that religion is not only a Sunday virtue, a habit and a tradition, but a workable, everyday theory of life.

It is vital that the student who is expected to exhibit a living, dynamic religion be instilled with this sense of urgency, this realization of the practical possibilities of religion. Furthermore, he will never make that realization entirely his own until he can make it of his own free will. There is no future in forcing religion upon anyone. The very attempt to do so creates a barrier of resentment, and compulsion defeats its own purpose.

Man's greatest heritage, the spark of divinity within him, is, in my opinion, the desire to act as a free agent. When his free will is stifled by human barriers, he builds up within him a resistance and a stubbornness which ultimately make learning utterly impossible.

However, a student can be taught the desire to learn. The sense of urgency mentioned before can be instilled within him by reasoning and individual counseling. An understanding teacher can bring a student, entirely of his own free will, to the realization of greater, broader values. Convocation and chapel programs and Christianity courses can be made so meaningful that the student will WANT to attend. When we reach that stage, we shall have accomplished the purposes of Wartburg in their highest meaning.

PIPE DREAMS WITH OMAR

After spending an inspiring Thanksgiving week-end with the brethren at Concordia college, Moorhead, Minn., Pipe Dreams returns this week full of good food and high ambition for finishing those term papers and preparing for those end-of-the-month exams.

Though the Alpha Phi Gamma convention at Concordia was supposed to be a journalistic one, the art of the blue pencilers was moved to second place when the culinary artists moved in. First came the steak dinner—and that was right after recovering from a huge Minnesota Thanksgiving dinner. Then came the smorgasbord, followed by a chow mein dinner the next noon.

With at least four cups of coffee at every meal and an equal number in between, this journalist joined the others in succumbing to the charm of our sister college.

o O o

Because of an infamous two-year reign as editor-in-chief of this publication, Pipe Dreams is having a hard time in his search for quiet retirement. Following the lead of the psychologist who says that it takes a while to adjust to new situations, Wartburgers—students and faculty alike—have the habit of seeking out this reporter to praise or condemn him for an editorial in this year's papers or to give him a hot tip.

Our Editor

Now while all this is going on, the poor 1949-50 editor-in-chief sits over in the publications office—alone, dejected, friendless. His only visitor is this reporter, who calls now and then to hand in a column or, more often, to give him a second-hand news tip. The unhappy editor smiles a moment at the thought of having at least one visitor; then he returns to his typewriter, yellow paper, blue pencil and paste pot.

Ordinarily Pipe Dreams tries to avoid the appearance of a crusader or reformer, but this situation calls for action. Please, dear reader, remember our editor. He may be a North haller, but forgive him; he's lonely sitting there in the quietness of a lonely newspaper office.

By the way, his name's Boyken—Bill Boyken. He answers to almost anything—W.G.C.B. (his initials), Billy Boy (only friends use this one), Ed (naturally), Mel (he answers when his roommate is asleep), George (everyone answers to the name George), Beardy (all North hall answers to this title) or Darling (used only by pedagogues from Titonka).

o O o

Almost forgot to say:

While at Concordia, Pipe Dreams found that one of the new English professors there is Eric Fietz, third editor of the TRUMPET. Before taking over the editorship in 1937, Fietz received school-wide acclaim for being the only Wartburger ever refused entrance into the United States because of lack of a birth certificate—he was a Canadian.

Tall, Poised, Modelesque

Emmajean New Queen

By Marianne Schmidt

Although outwardly poised when presented at the Bethel basketball game last week, likeable Emmajean Aardal admits the honor thrilled her, "but I was scared stiff!"

A native of Iowa, the sophomore queen was born in Ames where her father, Prof. A. A. Aardal of the physics department, taught. After her father joined the Wartburg faculty at Clinton, she moved with the college to Waverly. She proved her loyalty to the favorite produce of the state by detasseling corn last summer—incidentally gaining an enviable suntan.

President C. H. Becker places the crown on the head of Emmajean Aardal, sophomore, at half-time of the Bethel-Wartburg basketball game last Monday to announce that she was chosen "Winter Sports Queen" by the "W" club.

"But it lasted only two weeks," she remembers ruefully.

Queen Is Veteran.

Tall and modelesque, Emmajean reluctantly admits to being a veteran in queen contests. In her senior year at Waverly High she was elected Homecoming Queen and the next summer was one of five finalists in an all-state Amvet queen contest.

A biology major, Emmajean plans to continue her courses at Wartburg for another year and "perhaps study at a Milwaukee hospital for lab technicians my senior year.

"My dream is to specialize in tropical diseases and get a job in, maybe, Panama."

"I'm not just saying this because I was elected by the 'W' club, but I do like sports!" Emmajean answered when asked her taste for athletics. "I like to bowl and golf especially, but also like swimming, tennis and skiing."

Can Cook, Too.

Emmajean has a number of talents, not the least of them being her excellent cooking ability. She sings in Wartburg choir, of which she is secretary, and plays the piano well although it is for personal amusement only, she says.

Her taste in music varies from the Sunday symphonies to Claude Thornhill and progressive jazz, which she finds "exciting and different." She also likes radio murder mysteries, magazine short stories and travel, with the emphasis on sight-seeing.

Easy Pickings

from the staff

CASTLE DEN has at last gained the distinction it has long needed. A shiny new name-plate now adorns the sill above the entrance.

HOW DO YOU LIKE THAT? All the students put on their finest duds for the Artist Series program Tuesday night, and Burl Ives didn't even shave. Shades of North hall!!

WHY IS IT that, regardless of how much vacation is granted over Thanksgiving, some students simply must leave a day or so early? Perhaps they believe in killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

IT SEEMED so simple when Burl Ives did it. I think I'll get a guitar and go on tour.

Ax-men Lose Two In Nebraska

(By Special Wire)

By Norm Fintel

Wartburg ended its four day basketball trip in the narrow confines of the Nebraska Wesleyan gymnasium at Lincoln 46-53 Friday evening, losing the second game of the two game excursion to Nebraska.

Thursday night the Knights lost a thriller at Doone 54-52 in a see-saw affair in which Paul Bruns dumped in six buckets and six free throws for 16 points and the evening scoring honors.

In the Doane game, the score was tied six times in the first half, which ended with Wartburg one point behind, 22-21. Early in the second half a Doane spurt led by Frank Schultz gave the Tigers a comfortable 44-35 lead before Duke Uekert poured in seven points in a late period rally to pull the Knights to a 47-47 deadlock with four minutes to go.

Don Erickson scored a free throw for Doane soon afterward, though, and the Tigers were never behind after that.

In the Nebraska-Wesleyan game last night, Art Miller, Paul Bruns and Lloyd Spier tied for Knight scoring honors with 11 points each. Another Miller, named Del, led the Plainsmen with 16.

Bruns and Miller played consistently good ball for the Knights on the two-game trip, scoring 50 points between the two of them.

Wartburg Knights will return to their home floor next Friday, Dec. 9, to face the Dutchmen from Central. This will be the first Iowa conference tilt for the Knights, and should be some indication of their chances in the coming conference race.

Knight 'B' Squad Wins Over Bellevue

Wartburg "B" squad hung an impressive 40 to 29 defeat on the Bellevue Lutheran Brotherhood team here Monday night. This contest, preliminary to the varsity encounter with Bethel college, proved to be closer than anticipated.

Half-time saw the Squires out in front, 18 to 13, but after three quarters of play, their lead had been whittled to one point. Wartburg "B's" forged ahead in the final period, however, to come out victor by a safe 11-point margin.

Keith Bork led the Squires' shooting with 11 points. Harmening and Olson followed with 7 each. Valant's 11 counters gave him scoring honors for Bellevue.

Announcement that members of the junior class may now order their graduation rings was made this week by Lois Snyder, secretary of the junior class.

Wartburg Opens Season With Win Over Bethel

By Adam Meidinger

Wartburg Knights opened their 1949-50 intercollegiate maple competition with a 56-41 win over the Bethel college Indians from St. Paul, Minn., Monday evening in the Knights gymnasium.

Coach "Ax" Bundgaard's charges looked quite impressive, especially in the first half, as they passed well and hit the net from around the keyhole for a 37.1 percentage. The Knights also did a fine job of rebounding under their opponents' basket.

Behind Only Once.

Bethel led only once, that being in the opening minute of play when the Indians went ahead, 1-0, on Greenman's free throw. From then on, the Knights took over, holding Bethel to three free tosses during the first 10 minutes, while the Black and Orange pounded the cords for 14 points.

Veterans from last year's squad, Jim Keller, Lloyd Spier, Paul Bruns, Paul Olson and "Duke" Uekert, led the way in the scoring column, being aided by some nice floor play from newcomer Art Miller, transfer from Muscatine junior college.

Build Lead Easily.

Wartburg had little difficulty in building up a substantial lead against the Red and White from the Minnesota capital city. The Knights led at half-time, 31-16, and sailed to a 50-25 lead in the second half.

From then on, Coach Bundgaard substituted freely, using his entire roster of 15 men. The Indians began to close the gap in the waning minutes of the game; therefore, the score does not tell the entire story.

Jumpin' Jim Keller led the Wartburg attack with 14 points, followed by Olson and Spier with 10 points apiece. Bethel's guards, Greenman and Wood, potted 12 tallies apiece for the Indians.

Olson Jumps High

Center Paul Olson jumps high in the air to get the tip over Peterson, Bethel center, during the Wartburg-Bethel game last Monday evening in the Knights gymnasium. Poised near by are Knights Bob Lynne (14) and Fritz Steinhauer (13).

2 Knights Land All-Conference Gridiron Berths

Wartburg placed two men on the United Press Iowa conference all-star team, halfback Paul Bruns and end Waldo Platte, both seniors. Another Wartburg end, Fritz Steinhauer, a junior, received honorable mention in the annual poll of Iowa newspapers.

Bruns, leading scorer for the Knights this season and 18th among the smaller colleges in the nation in yards gained rushing, was a standout this season on both offense and defense.

Platte was also one of the few Wartburg gridders this season who played regularly on offense and defense for Coach Nallie Nelson. Fritz Steinhauer, who like Platte held down an end position, showed up well in his first year of football competition at Wartburg, and also helped out in the punting department.

Following is the Iowa conference all-star football team as selected by the United Press:

Rafters Soon To Echo Yells Of Wrestling Fans

By Boh Snyder

Soon the rafters of the Knights gymnasium will be echoing with the voices of frenzied Knight fans crying, "Show him where the lights are!" "Rub his face in the mat!" "Ride him!" "Pin him!" That's right, wrestling season is here once more.

Coach Melvin Nelson will send his Iowa conference champions into action at the AAU tournament at Cedar Falls next Saturday, Dec. 10. A total of 16 wrestlers will represent Wartburg in a meet that will include college and YMCA teams.

With a squad of 20 men bolstered by six lettermen, Coach Nelson has hopes of a fine season for the Knights. Charlie Adams, Howie Wolfgram and Jim Wagner seized top honors in last year's conference tournament. Joe Baumgartner took second place in his division last year. Ray Meier, one of the standouts of the 1947-48 season, returned to the mat squad this year after being absent last year. The other returning letterman is Otto Zwanziger.

26 On Squad.

The squad according to their classes is as follows:

121-lb. Jack Bork, Fred Downing, Wayne Koetz, Winfred Schroeder
128-lb. Charlie Adams, Wendell Wilharm
136-lb. Marvin Brosz, Carl Wenzler, Ronald Kruger, Cyril Jandrey
145-lb. Joe Baumgartner, Clarence Bruninga, Kenneth Lauer, Keith Beaver, Arnold Fritz, Dick Propp, Lloyd Roberts, Thomas Smrcka
155-lb. Howie Wolfgram, Norbert Mueller, Merill Feliger
165-lb. Jim Wagner
175-lb. Ray Meier, Howie Schmidt
Hwt. Otto Zwanziger, Alvin Ennen

Big feature on the schedule is the conference tournament, which is scheduled for the Knights gymnasium, probably on the evenings of March 3 and 4. The Knights have captured two conference crowns in two years of competition and will be gunning for their third.

Long Trips Planned.

Long trips, one to Illinois and one to Colorado, will occupy the major part of the schedule and are a big attraction to anyone interested in wrestling. These will be the longest trips any Knight team has ever made.

Besides the regular schedule, there is a possibility of filling the open date with a match with either Grinnell or TC's "B" squad. Dubuque university might enter conference wrestling this year and, if so, two matches will be scheduled with that team on a home-and-away basis. Some Wartburg "B" squad matches will also probably be scheduled here, marking the appearance of a new Squires unit.

Campus Religious Life Discussed By Students At Thursday Convo

By David Geske

"Religious Life on the Christian Campus" was the subject of Thursday's student forum. Taking over the regular convo hour, the forum presented an able quintet of students debating and discussing five phases of spiritual growth on campus with the Rev. Dean Kilgust acting as moderator.

Marianne Schmidt, senior, stimulated thought with her remarks on the Christian faculty as related to the spiritual environment of Wartburg. Personal contact and classroom philosophy in reference to Christian ethics were cited by others on the panel as important factors in a Christian faculty.

Convos Controversial.

Advancing himself as perhaps prejudiced, Bill Boyken, junior, tackled the convo controversy with frankness. He pointed to lack of interest as one friction point of compulsory convocations. To broaden viewpoints and arouse thought were convo purposes panel members singled out in addition to that of an inspirational student assembly.

Chapel and its part in a Christian college was ably analyzed by Paul Weiblen, junior. That chapel is an issue for the individual student was the probability he propounded.

Club Distinction Given.

Allan Dieter, sophomore, briefly considered religious organizations as a factor in the Christian school. A distinction was set between the professional groups and those bodies concerned with all students.

Christianity as a classroom subject was the object of expressions by Katherine Smith, junior. She theorized that inspiration should hold prominence over information.

3 Seniors Welcomed Into Honorary Cast

Jane Aardal, Harold Kruger and George Roleder, all seniors, were welcomed into the Lambda Mu cast of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity at a formal initiation program held in the Little Theater on Nov. 17.

Marjorie Wuebbens, sophomore, was also pledged to the organization, but was unable to attend the initiation because she was forced to leave for her home, Annapolis, Md., that evening to care for her mother.

Philippi Will Speak

Leon Philippi, sophomore, will speak to members of Mission Fellowship Tuesday evening, Nov. 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theater.

Recently returned after spending three years helping to rebuild New Guinea mission fields, Mr. Philippi will relate his experiences while there.

'Printing' Pix Topic

"Printing" will be the topic under discussion at the Camera club meeting next Tuesday, Nov. 6, in room 20 of Luther hall, according to Elwin Bergstraesser, president.

2 Attend Convention

Miss Margaret Wolff, adviser for Beta Delta chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalism fraternity, and Omar Bonderud, senior and president of the local group attended the national convention of the fraternity last week-end at Concordia college, Moorhead, Minn.

With 13 colleges represented, Bonderud was elected one of a committee of three to re-work the fraternity constitution. The Wartburg college chapter and the Concordia college chapter were appointed to revise the ritual.

Movie On Program

Highly-acclaimed movie, "Feeling of Hostility," will be shown at the meeting of the Passavant club, social workers' organization, Dec. 7, at 7:30 p.m., in the Little Theater.

"Anyone interested in psychology and social work is cordially invited to attend this movie," stated Norman Johnson, senior and president of the group.

Pepsters To Bowl

Evening of bowling at Waterloo has been planned by the Pep club for next Tuesday evening, Dec. 6. Members of the club will make the trip in private cars, as announced by Dick Wiltshire, president.

Forum To Discuss Ethics Of Pre-The

Panel-forum discussing "Pre-the Ethics" will highlight the monthly Chi Rho meeting tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. in the Little Theater, as announced by the president, Merrill Herder.

Members of the panel are Omar Bonderud, acting as moderator, George Roleder, Paul Lohnes, all seniors, and Paul Schubert, sophomore.

Singers To Practice

Caroling practice for the Hans Sachs Verein singers will be held tomorrow from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Old Main, according to Miss Elsa Jacob, acting head of the modern languages department and adviser of the group.

Deputations Team Traveling To Drake

Deputations team of the Lutheran Student association will travel to Des Moines tomorrow to present the topic "Socialism and Religion" to the Drake chapter of LSA.

Members of the team, Harold Kruger, senior; Wayne Stumme and Katherine Smith, juniors, and Roger Swanson, sophomore, have previously given this topic to the local organization and at Luther college, Decorah.

Devotions at the Drake meeting will be in charge of Harold Meyer, senior and president, and Dolores Lund, junior and secretary of the Wartburg LSA. Ruth Meyer and Robert Mong, sophomores, will provide music at the meeting.

The Rev. Edwin Schick, adviser, will travel with the Wartburg delegation.

The Georgia Tech College Inn in Atlanta, Georgia, is a favorite haunt of the Georgia Tech students. That's because the Georgia Tech College Inn is a friendly place, always full of the busy atmosphere of college life. There is always plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola, too. For here, as in university gathering spots everywhere—Coke belongs.

GIVE YOUR BOY A "BREAK"

You want your boy to succeed. You want to help him all you can. This is how you can give him a "break" that he will appreciate more and more as he grows older. Get a Lutheran Mutual Life Insurance policy for him TODAY!

By starting his insurance program now, you will give him several advantages over the boy who buys his first life policy at age 25 or 30. Annual premium payments will be less and he will have accumulated a sizeable cash reserve for many purposes.

You can pay all or a major portion of the premiums at first. Later on you can encourage him to assume a greater portion of the premiums as a thrift program.

Give your boy his "break" now. Help him secure his first Lutheran Mutual Life Insurance policy today! Call your local representative for full details.
